Boston Mutual Life Insurance Company is Making an Impact in the Community

New corporate citizenship program increases support of employees’ community service and charitable giving activities

Canton, Mass. (April 4, 2018) — Boston Mutual Life Insurance Company, a national provider of insurance solutions for individuals and at the workplace, today announced the launch of its corporate citizenship program, Making An Impact. Led by the company’s External Affairs & Corporate Communications department, the Making An Impact program will unify and support Boston Mutual's employees’ service and charitable giving efforts. The new program offers employees and producer partners a variety of opportunities to support worthy causes through volunteering, donating goods, monetary donations, supporting environmental sustainability, and partnering with local and industry organizations on charitable initiatives.

“Boston Mutual has always been a good corporate citizen, but in the past, charitable efforts were loosely coordinated across different teams in the company,” said David Mitchell, Executive Vice President, External Affairs & Corporate Communications at Boston Mutual Life Insurance Company. “By formalizing this great program, we will continue empowering employees and producer partners to exemplify our mutuality and give back to the broader community under one unified banner to better help causes in our local communities and across the country.”

The corporate citizenship program will focus its giving on opportunities that best align with the company’s values and core beliefs in three key areas of community, education, and family. Participants of the program are encouraged to help the community through four different areas of volunteerism, charitable giving, public affairs, and environmental sustainability. For example, Boston Mutual will match employee donations to any qualifying cause that fits within one of the three key focus areas, and employees are granted one full workday each year to volunteer at a service organization or charity of their choosing. The Making An Impact program team will also work closely with the company’s Activities Committee, a volunteer group of employees, to coordinate on larger initiatives throughout the year.

“As a mutual company, and as part of the Boston Mutual brand, corporate citizenship is in the essence of who we are and what we do,” said Paul A. Quaranto, Jr., Chairman, Chief Executive Officer and President at Boston Mutual Life Insurance Company. “Our commitment to the Boston Mutual family extends to the members of the communities where we live and work, and I’m looking forward to continuing our goodwill with this new program.”
Based on current employee engagement and long-term relationships and activities, Boston Mutual has selected four signature partners that embody many of the key traits the company embraces, including The Salvation Army, My Brother’s Keeper, United Way, and the Town of Canton, Massachusetts. Along with these signature partners, Boston Mutual will continue to support a wide variety of national and regional charitable causes and organizations, including the American Cancer Society, American Heart Association, American Red Cross, Joslin Diabetes Center, and Junior Achievement.
